Through art, Breckenridge expresses itself as a town like no other, where the simple charms of our surroundings connect the most unlikely of neighbors: hunters to hippies, liberals to libertarians, beer drinkers to cosmic thinkers. Here, everyone has a voice they are encouraged to express. And the melody they create is anything but monotone.

BreckCreate drives home the importance of the arts in establishing Breckenridge’s identity. It motivates the sharing of fresh perspectives; it entices those from outside the local community to engage Breckenridge as a creative destination. It promises an evolving experience that reinvigorates the soul with every return visit.
BRECKENRIDGE ARTS DISTRICT

The Breckenridge Arts District is the region’s newest epicenter of creativity, bringing together studios, galleries, performance spaces, historic landmarks, public art, restaurants, cafes, and other creative businesses that animate and populate a vibrant cultural corridor in downtown Breckenridge.

The Arts District’s core attraction is a new multi-facility arts campus that hosts workshops, exhibits, artists-in-residence, and a variety of other activities for locals and visitors alike. With a focus on educational and experiential enrichment, programs include classes in several media such as textiles, ceramics, metalwork, painting, and more. Complete with decorative plazas and sculpture gardens, the Arts District campus serves as a community gathering place and a catalyst for creative expression in Breckenridge.

Visit breckcreate.org for more information. Pre-registration required for workshops. All materials included unless otherwise noted.

Ronald Shaw is a ceramic artist and instructor living and working in West Palm Beach, Fl. He is currently a permanent resident artist and adjunct faculty instructor at The Armory Art Center, which is located in the heart of historic Flamingo Park. Ron teaches weekly classes and monthly workshops in wheel throwing, hand building, raku and saggar firing, and soda kiln glazing and firing. His current body of work is being made using several different construction techniques to create pieces on a large scale, including hand building and sculpting, wheel throwing, stacking and assembling, and coil and paddle using a handmade kick wheel.

Ron will be the guest artist at the Robert Whyte House in May and June. You can drop by and see him working during open studio hours, Thursday through Sunday, from 2 to 6 pm. He will also be hosting several demonstrations and workshops at the Ceramic Studio during his stay.

Edwin Kayton  KA`U, HAWAII

Edwin Kayton has been prolific in the mediums of oil, drawing and sculpture for over 30 years. His artistic subjects have focused on the Hawaiian personality, European cultures, and the western genre. He graduated from Museum Art School (now Pacific Northwest School of Art) in Portland, Oregon in 1967. His oil painting technique focuses on the subtle relationship and the interaction between light and shadow, colors, shapes, and patterns of subjects, often exploiting chiaroscuro to create an atmospheric feeling.

Edwin will be the guest artist at the Tin Shop in July. He will be teaching multi-day workshops in oil painting and drawing. He will also be painting regularly in his studio and you are welcome to stop by and see a master painter at work.

This summer Breckenridge comes alive with color and culture, including: a creativity crawl through the galleries and creative businesses in downtown; the opening of the new multi-arts facility, Old Masonic Hall; and al fresco art tours that highlight the town’s growing collection of public art.

Art Around Town is a free summer art walk that introduces guests to all the creative happenings in the Breckenridge Arts District, offering them guided or self-guided tours through the Sculpture on the Blue outdoor exhibition and providing an overview on the diverse mix of representational and contemporary public art pieces around town.

In addition, Breckenridge Creative Arts is teaming up with The Summit Foundation to present QUACK: An Artful Duck Exhibition, part of the Annual Great Rubber Duck Races in August. This public art project will feature seven oversized fiberglass ducks, each hand-painted by a local Summit County artist, displayed in outdoor spaces throughout downtown Breckenridge.
Breckenridge Creative Arts is grateful to the many contributors whose gifts provide vital resources for our programs. Listed below are the businesses, media organizations and government agencies whose support is indispensable to our work.
